SHE LOSES A HOUSE

By the marriage of Senator Clark of Montana, his daughter, Mrs. Everett M. Culver, loses her prospect of getting the title to the great mansion which the senator has erected in New York. It is one of the costliest residences in America and is lavishly furnished with the most expensive furniture and objects of art which the senator could buy in America and Europe. Mrs. Culver is suing her husband for divorce and incidentally is being sued for $500,000 damages by another woman, for alienation of that woman's affections. The statement was published in Washington that Clark intended to give her the title to the New York mansion, but that home will now have a mistress in the senator's young wife.

DROWNED LIKE RATS

The complete accounts of the sinking of the Russian submarine boat Delfin and the consequent drowning of twenty-one men show that the whole affair was due to the carelessness and want of system which has been everywhere present on the Russian side in the present campaign. The account runs thus:

The submarine boat Delfin sank at her moorings in the Neva, off the Baltic Shipbuilding Yard, at 11 o'clock on the morning of June 28, with the loss of an officer, Lieutenant Cherkasoff, and twenty men. The accident was due, partly, to the excessive number of the crew, mostly inexperienced men, and chiefly to the unfortunate attempt of a man to escape while his comrades were screwing down the manhole.

The officers and men detailed for submarine boat instruction had assembled at the Baltic yard and three officers decided to go down in the Delfin, although her captain was not present, relying on the experience of her skilled crew. A score of novices were anxious to go with the three officers. The Delfin's nominal capacity is ten men, instead of which thirty-two entered the boat, bringing her manhole in dangerous proximity to the river level. Just then a tug passed, sending a heavy wash against the boat. As soon as the water splashed into the submarine boat's interior it created a panic among the novices and one of the mired to get out of the manhole, which the older hands were screwing down preparatory to the descent, the submerging department having already opened. The water rushed in and as the submerged vessel sank like a stone the officers and some of the men were saved by being blown up through the manhole by the rush of escaping air. The Delfin shortly afterward was raised. Lieutenant Elaguin, who was one of the officers saved, said to the correspondent of the Associated Press: "The tragedy was like a dream. I remember a sickening sense of suffocation from the fumes of the storage batteries and then a rush of air and water. The next thing I knew was that I was ashore."

The Delfin is Russia's best submarine boat. She was designed by Naval Architect Boubnoff and Captain Beqlemisheff and underwent a successful trial in 1903.

Jones was born in Wales in 1846 and was brought to the United States by his parents when three years old.
